SUMMARY

Firefly is a striking tug-style narrowboat built by Barry Hawkins, powered by a beautifully maintained Gardner 3LW. She boasts an exceptional interior fit-out, featuring a tongue-and-groove oak ceiling, a charming forward bedroom, and a finely detailed boatman's cabin showcasing exquisite roses and castles artwork.

Beneath the classic looks lies a solidly built hull with well-specified cruising gear, complemented by modern comforts including a washing machine and a welcoming wood-burning stove, making her as practical as she is characterful.

A boat that truly turns heads, Firefly is ideal for those wishing to explore the UK canal network while embracing tradition, heritage, and craftsmanship.
